For the prevention and cure of
BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended
HAHN's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of person can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficatious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Fifty Dollars Reward.

THERE came to the stable of the subscriber, on Monday the 1st inst. a person calling himself and obtained a horse and gig on hire, as he said, to go to Ellicott's Mills, and return in the afternoon of the same day; and as he has not yet returned, there is strong reason to believe that his intention is to swindle me out of my property. He is about 5 feet 8 or 9 inches high, apparently about 25 or 30 years of age, of genteel appearance, and well calculated to deceive.

Mr. PEYTON,

The horse is a grey, about 15 hands high, 9 or 10 years old, has a switch tail, a speck on the right eye, and moves swiftly. The gig has a green body, carriage and wheels black, the lining of blue cloth, red stuff top, linings, plated double—outside joints.

I will give the above reward for the recovery of the horse and gig, and the detection of the scoundrel, or 20 dollars for the horse and gig only, and all reasonable expenses if delivered to me, No. 26, North Liberty street, Baltimore.

ARABIC DEATH SONG.

A manuscript journal of a late traveller in Egypt, affords the following beautiful little poem, to which are prefixed these remarks: [N. Y. Daily Adv.

"The current was against us, and as we came near the city (Cairo) the wind lulled almost into a calm. While we were busy at the oar, we heard some unusual sounds on the river's side, and our watermen suddenly threw themselves on their faces, and began a prayer. A procession was seen a few moments after, advancing from a grove of date trees at a short distance from the bank. It was a band of Bedoins, who, in one of their few ventures into the half-civilized world of Lower Egypt for trade, had lost their chief by sickness. The train were mounted, and the body was borne in the middle of the foremost troop in a kind of palanquin, rude, but ornamented with a strange mixture of savageness and magnificence, that we find not unfrequently among the nob'er barbarians of the East and South. The body was covered with a lion's skin; a green and gold embroidered flag waved over it; and some remarkably rich ostrich feathers on the lances made the capitals and pillars of this Arab hearse. The tribe seemed not to observe our boat, though they moved close to the shore; their faces were turned to the setting sun, which was then touching the horizon in full grandeur, with an immense canopy of gorgeous cloud closing around him in a shade of deepening purple. The air was remarkably still, and their song, in which the whole train joined at intervals, sounded most sweet. Their voices were deep and regular, and as the long procession moved slowly away into the desert, with their diminishing forms, and fading chorus, they gave us the idea of a train passing into eternity. The following is a translation of their song or hymn, such as I could collect it from the unclassic lips of a Cairo boatman:

"Our father's brow was cold; his eye
Gazed on his warriors heavily;
Pangs thick and deep his bosom wrung,
Silence was on the noble tongue;
Then writhed the lip, the final throe
That freed the struggling soul below.

"He died!—Upon the desert gale
Shoot up his eagle shafts to sail.
He died!—upon the desert plain
Fling loose his camel's golden rein.
He died!—No other voice shall guide
O'er stream or sand its steps of pride.

"Whose is the hand that now shall rear
Terror of man, the Sheik's red spear?
Lives there the warrior on whose brow
His turban's vulture plume shall grow?
He's gone, and with our father fell
Thy sun of glory, Ishmael!"

Justice Bunale's charge to the Grand Jury.

All laws are laws, and every law is law; and laws are things made by the lawyers, to make men live according to the law, without any respect to the gospel; for that is another affair, and to be considered at another opportunity, and by another sort of men, and in another manner. Vide Coke upon Littleton, chap. 10th, page 15th. But as to the law.—Now there are some men that are good men and some men that are bad men, and the bad men are not the good men, and the good men are not the bad men, but the bad men, and the good men, and the good men and the bad men are two different sorts of men; and this we gather from Magna Charta, an old man that lived in the reign of King John the Great. Now, if any are good men, there would be no need of laws: Therefore, ergo, the laws were made for bad men, and the good men have no business therewith, nor no advantage to receive therefrom: Ergo, therefore, those who receive advantage from the laws must be bad men; and so, ge'm, call up the prisoners and despatch them as soon as possible, for I must go out of town to-morrow.

If we would not fall into things unlawful, we must sometimes deny ourselves in those that are lawful;

ALEXANDRIA:
SATURDAY, JUNE 13, 1818.

FOR THE GAZETTE.

Addison, who has certainly never been surpassed—in my opinion never equalled—for elegant, grave humour in composition, has in his character of Sir Roger de Coverley indulged himself in the display of that gift, with a felicity unequalled even by himself in any part of his other works. The consequential manner with which the worthy baronet, when sitting on the bench, gets rid of a question that calls for his decision, by leaving it still in doubt, and retreating under cover of a piece of common place—"Much may be said on both sides.' is full of naivette as an illustration of his character, and of the reverence with which even the simple nullities that fell from him were received by the people among whom he dwelt.

This old bootless saying of Sir Roger's made, when I was young, such a lasting impression on my mind, by that whimsical application of it, that upon every occurrence that has since arisen, to which it could fairly be applied, it has never failed to start into my head; and truly it is astonishing to think what a vast number I have found of the transactions of life, to which it is suitable, and which human ingenuity, well practised in the perversion of truth, may render so dubious as to make a decision upon them very hazardous.

Of the many questions which have for ages exercised the skill of casuits, I know none that remains at this day suspended in more total indecision, than that of the value of riches. On this, it may truly be affirmed, that not only much may be said, but for time immemorial much has been said on both sides. On one side men of wise and pious minds, justly diffident of human virtue, have considered the absence of wealth as the safest standard and the most effectual boundary to the desires of a good man. Agur's prayer, backed by the strong, scriptural, oriental figure that "it is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle, than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God," are by these produced in proof of the excellence of their principle. And certainly nothing can be imagined more conformable to wisdom, or more natural to a mind intent upon exemption from vice, than the wish of Agur; in which, while he prays for deliverance from the infelicities of poverty, he also desires to be saved from the dangers of superfluous wealth—convinced that the first might tempt him to invade the property of his neighbor, and the latter to a wicked abuse of his own.

Yet the humility and moderation of this beautiful and impressive passage of holy writ, could not rescue it from attack.—It has been censured and controverted as the ejaculation of a narrow heart—the conception of a selfish, unsocial, frigid imagination, contented with bare safety, and the negative enjoyment of uninterrupted security; neither hoping for nor aspiring to the honor and happiness of diffusing comfort beyond its own contracted circle. After all that envy can invent—(say those advocates of wealth)—against pecuniary accumulation, it is the man who misapplies, and not he who acquires, that is the criminal agent; if to reward industry, alleviate distress, and support helpless indigence, are the great and most satisfactory duties of life, how (say they) can riches make salvation difficult? How can the same thing enable us to exercise the first of virtues, yet endanger its future rewards? For this reason, (continue they) the very desire of wealth in a good man, is meritorious, as showing a wish to qualify himself for diffusing good and diminishing evil. He deprecates poverty, not because it subjects him to new temptations, but because it renders benevolence impotent, leaving him often to witness distress which he cannot relieve, and to grieve for wrongs which it is not in his power to redress.

All this is sophistry—plausible indeed, but still sophistry. Were men as they ought to be, Agur's prayer would be folly; but as they are and will forever continue to be, mere compounds of reason and passion, governed ninety-nine times in a hundred, by the impulse of the latter, rather than influenced by the suggestions of the former, I must consider that pious effusion as excellently calculated for the condition of such creatures. Let any man view the vicious freaks, the degrading gambols, the "fantastic tricks" which under the pressure of that detestable incubus, disproportioned, new made wealth, the funguses of the day in this district "play before high heaven, making the angels weep," and then candidly declare whether great wealth ought not to be deprecated as a curse, in ninety-nine instances leading its possessors to ridiculous vanity, ostentation, sensual indulgence, arrogance, and capricious dissipation—though the prayer, "Give me riches," might be justified in the single case of the hundredth person, because he would make a good use of it. When I see those about me whom fortune, whether in good will or malice, has made very rich, bestowing their wealth, as the sophistical advocates of riches most mistakenly premise, in rewarding industry, alleviating distress, and supporting helpless indigence, then shall I be ready to pronounce riches a blessing: but "seeing what I have seen, seeing what I see every day," I shall continue to join Agur in his prayer, being convinced that the humble state to which it points is most favorable to moral purity, to external propriety, and to internal peace. This has been the opinion of the wise and good in all ages. Pliny and Valerius Maximus tell us, that when Gyges, king of Lydia, consulted the oracle, and desired to be told whether any mortal, and if there were any who he was that was happier than him, the oracle answered, "Aglaus," the very poorest man in all Arcadia.—Upon which story our poet Cowley founded a pleasing narrative, containing the following lines:

"Thus Aglaus lived unknown—
When royal Gyges, impotent and great,
Presum'd at wise Apollo's Delphic seat,
Presum'd to ask, 'O thou, the whole world's eye,
See'st thou a man who happier is than I?
The God who scorn'd to flatter man, replied,
'Aglaus happier is'—but Gyges cry'd,
In a proud rage, 'Who can this Aglaus be?
I've heard, as yet, of no such KING as he.
Is some old hero of this name alive
Who his high race doth from the Gods derive?
Is it some mighty general who hath done
Wonders in fight, and God-like honors won?
None, none of these; who can this Aglaus be?'
After long toils, and vain inquiries past,
In a remote Arcadian valeat last,
Near Sopho's town which he but once had seen,
This mighty Aglaus, who monarchs' envy drew,
Whose happiness the Gods themselves stood witness to;
This mighty Aglaus was labouring found
With his own hands in his own little ground.
So, gracious God! if it may lawful be,
Amongst those foolish Gods to mention thee,
So let me act on such a private stage,
The last dull scenes of my declining age;
Of heavenly rest this earnest to me lend,
Let my soul sleep, and learn to love her end."

FROM ST. CROIX.

Capt. Goodwin, of the schnr. Planter, who has arrived at Boston in 16 ds. from St. Croix, informs that the produce of the island was very scarce, and American produce plenty, excepting corn, flour and meal. He also states, that admiral Byron's patriot squadron, of 14 sail, eight square rigged and six schooners from St. Barts, passed Sandy Point, (south side of St. Croix) 19th of May, said to be bound to Samana, to take possession in behalf of the Patriots. [N. Y. Com. Adv.

FROM NEW-ORLEANS.

A letter from a gentleman in New-Orleans to his friend in Petersburgh, Vir. states, that the fever and small pox prevailed in that city to an alarming degree—carrying off from 6 to 10 per day. [ibid.

NORTHERN BOUNDARY.

The Commissioners appointed under the sixth and seventh articles of the treaty of Ghent, met at St. Regis on the 1st instant, with the Commissioners under the fifth article. The conferences had been opened, but were afterwards delayed by the non-arrival of one of the surveyors. [N. Y. Gaz.

An attempt was made to rob the mail carrier on the rout from Auburn to Oswego, on the night of the 22d ult. by a fellow who jumped from behind a tree, and made a grasp at the bridle of the horse. The horse being frightened, sprung to the opposite side of the path, when another villain made a pass at him with a club. The carrier then applied spurs, and made his escape. [ibid.

Beeding vs. Baily's Endorsers.

Cranch, Chief Justice, delivered the opinion of the Court.

By the Court decreed—That in an action by an Endorsee vs. Endorser, the plaintiff must prove a demand made on the drawer on the third day of grace—notice to the Endorser on the next day.

We have been politely favored, by a friend, (says the editor of the Savannah Republican,) with the following extract of a letter from a gentleman on whose word our readers may rely. The invaders mentioned we suppose are Patriots, and have no doubt but they will keep their footing against all the force at the disposal of the governor of St. Augustine.

May 30—"A report has reached us, that three vessels with troops have landed to the southward of St. Augustine, not certain whether at Matanzas or Musquito. One hundred men were sent from St. Augustine to oppose them. The last accounts from that place to the 23d May."

BANK ROBBERS.

Extract of a letter from a gentleman in Pittsburg to his friend in Philadelphia, dated June 3.

"The money of the Farmers and Mechanics Bank, except about $1200 has been all recovered from the robbers. A short time ago, they were detected and lodged in Cincinnati jail. They broke jail, and one of them made his escape; the other was brought to this city a few days ago; since which time he has made a confession of the fact, and accompanied the sheriff, cashier, and some of the directors, to a place where the money had been buried near Beaver, about 28 miles from this place. About sunset this evening the money was deposited in the Pittsburg Bank. The robber who disclosed the secret has made his escape."

AN ACCEPTABLE EMIGRANT.

We learn, (says the New-York Nat. Advocate) that a gentleman has recently arrived in this City, from England, whose object is to settle in the Illinois Territory—that his family and settlers brought over with him, amounted to 51 persons—that he has furnished himself with agricultural instruments, seeds of various kinds, some cows, sheep and hogs, for breeding, and about 100,000 pounds sterling in money. This is doing business to a great national, as well as individual profit; and if gentlemen of fortune and enterprize will emigrate in the same manner, our western states will shortly be the most flourishing part of the world.

Norfolk, June 8.

We learn from captain Doggett, of the schr. William and Joseph, who arrived here on Saturday from New-Orleans, that when he sailed on the 17th ult. the quantity of country produce which was lying there, waiting the arrival of vessels to have it shipped, was enormous; it was believed sufficient to load 150 ships, and so much was still coming in, that unless shipping shortly arrived to take it away, it would be necessary to check its influx. Freights in consequence were very high—2d. had been offered for cotton, and 2cts. for tobacco. The prices of produce had been greatly depressed by so large a quantity being in market. The following were the most recent sales—Sugar $10 a 11—Cotton 28 a 31 cts.—Tobacco $6 a 7—Beef $22—Pork $16 a 17—Bacon 9 a 10 cts.—Flour $6 50—Mackerel $16 a 17, and very scarce.

The Rev. HARRY CROSWELL, (formerly editor of that spirited paper the Balance, and now an Episcopal Minister in Connecticut) preached the election sermon in that state this year. His text was "Render unto Cæsar the things which be Cæsar's, and unto God the things which be God's;" and the following observations are extracted from the sermon:

"But if we owe thus much to Cæsar, to our civil government—how much more do we owe to God!—to that almighty Ruler who created us by his power, who preserves us by his providence, who redeemed us by his love and who sanctifies us by his grace. We must not only obey him; but our obedience must be prompted by that love and gratitude, which carry the whole heart and soul into his service. We must be tributary to him; But instead of that perishable substance which derives its value from the image & superscription of an earthly prince, the tribute which we owe to Him is that living and immortal spirit, which is rendered invaluable by the "form and pressure," THE IMAGE AND THE NAME OF GOD! The entire energy of the soul must be poured out in reverence, in worship and adoration, or we withhold that tribute which we owe to our Almighty Sovereign. We possess no treasure which can be substituted for it is tribute—nothing can exempt us from this obedience No outward forms of submission—no cold or formal compliance with appointed ordinances—no zeal or fervency in support of peculiar doctrines or tenets—no vainglorious or arrogant pretensions to exclusive sanctity—no sacrifices that we can possibly make, save only the sacrifice of the heart, can prove acceptable to our heavenly Master."

FORGED BANK NOTES.

Mr. Ranson's case has not yet been settled even in its first stage. It will of course be brought before the proper court; and the public will be benefited by his determination to bring the matter to a final issue.—How do the public know that Notes marked as "forged" are really forged? Who are now the Judges? Why, an interested party. It is quite idle to talk of the "honour" of a great public body. Public bodies never feel shame. They merely consult their own interest as a body. And if by any possible chance a set of men should feel shame from an unlucky exposure, the portion of it which falls to the lot of each individual is so small, that it can be very well borne. London Pap.

[We deem the above an article of much interest. The trial of the principle which is involved in Ranson's case, may have important consequences in the United States, by leading to a legal investigation of the right of the clerks in our Banks to cross or deface any note presented in payment or on deposit.—*Dem. COMMUNICATION.

We are almost daily called on to witness the rapid progress of the useful arts in the United States. The "art preservative of all arts," has lately received considerable advantage from the establishment of a new type-foundry in this city, which bids fair from the specimen we have seen, to rival any similar establishment in any part of the world; we have compared the most celebrated specimens of printing type from Germany, France, England, and all those heretofore published in this country, with that lately issued from the new foundry of Messrs. Reich Starr, & Co. and think it rather superior to them all in the elegance and uniformity of the several sizes it contains. We hope this very successful attempt to rival the most finished productions of European as well as American foundries, will meet the patronage and encouragement it so highly merits.

From the accuracy with which the figures, spaces, braces, dashes, &c. are fitted up in this foundry, it renders the founts peculiarly advantageous to printers in tabular work.

[We have supplied ourselves with type from the foundry of Reich, Starr, & Co. and can bear testimony as to the latter paragraph of the above communication it has been the daily remark of those employed in the office, that they never handled type that justified so well, and that they had not found one defective type in the different founts procured from Reich, Starr & Co. We have found a great convenience in the supply of sorts, which at the commencement of our establishment we sometimes stood in need of, and have never been disappointed in procuring them at the shortest notice.

ANIMAL FLOWER.

The inhabitants of St Lucia have discovered a most singular plant. In a cavern of that isle, near the sea, is a large basin, from twelve to fifteen feet deep, the water of which is very brackish, and bottom composed of rocks. From these, at all times, proceeds certain substances, which presents at first sight, beautiful flowers, of a bright shining color, and pretty nearly resembling our marigolds—only that their tint is more lively. These seeming flowers, on the approach of a hand or instrument, retire like a snail out of sight. On examining their substance closely, there appear in the middle of the disk, four brown filaments, resembling spiders' legs, which move round a kind of petals with a pretty brisk and spontaneous motion. These legs have pincers to seize their prey; and, upon seizing it, the yellow petals immediately close, so that it cannot escape Under this exterior of a flower is a brown stalk, of the bigness of a raven's quill, and which appears to be the body of some animal. It is probable this strange creature lives on the spawn of fish, and the marine insects thrown by the sea into the basin.

Chemistry.

IN FOUR VOLUMES OCTAVO.

THE preceding edition of Dr. Thomson's Chemistry, had acquired so much reputation both in England and upon the continent of Europe, that a new edition, comprising the new facts with which the science had been enriched, and the new views of the subject which extended knowledge had suggested as indispensable, was eagerly looked for by the scientific world. A new edition has accordingly appeared, wherein the former edition of five volumes has been condensed into four.

All the new discoveries, and all the new theories of Chemical Phænomena, have been considered and embraced in the present improved edition: so that it is indispensable to the chemical student, as presenting the only condensed view of the changes and alterations in chemical doctrine, which the discoveries of the last ten years have suggested. No apology therefore can be necessary for reprinting such a book in this country; for the press does not furnish a substitute for it. But, there is so much theoretical suggestion—so much abstruse calculation—so much fact of dubious authority—and so much dubious validity—that notes and illustrations are absolutely necessary, not merely to render the book more useful, but more intelligible.

Under these impressions, I thought fit to write notes in illustration (and sometimes in contradiction) of the work itself, rather than to make any abridgement of it. Those who wish to know the modern views of chemical science, must peruse it; and to very many who will be anxious to study it, elucidation will be necessary. I have endeavoured to supply these, to the best of my ability; regardless whether my own opinions are in dissonance or coincidence with those of my author; leaving to the reader to decide between us.

The work will be published, with notes and illustrations, in four volumes 8vo.
THOMAS COOPER, M. D.

CONDITIONS.

I. The work will be printed on a superfine paper, with a new small pica letter; and will be published early in the ensuing summer.

II. It will be illustrated with a number of cuts, of which several have been necessarily added to the London edition.

III. It will be delivered to subscribers at $12—to non-subscribers at $14, in boards. The London edition sells for $18.

French Creek Boarding School.

The following is published for the information of Parents:

HAVING long believed that a School on a plan different from most others in many respects, would be beneficial to society, and apprehending that with all its cares, and the responsibility inseparable from such a concern, I could more cheerfully devote my time to the education of children than to any other business, I have concluded to establish a BOARDING SCHOOL for GIRLS.—With this view I have purchased the FRENCH CREEK FARM, four miles east of the yellow springs, on the Norristown and Philadelphia road, situated in Pikeland and Vincent townships, Chester county, twenty-seven miles from Philadelphia, combining many conveniencies for the support of such an institution; and having let the farm, etc. in a way calculated to supply the family with provisions, I propose to devote my attention, with the aid of suitable assistants, to the education of the children who may be placed under my care.

In selecting the pupils, it is not proposed to be governed entirely by their ages, nor to require that they shall all be members of the religious society of Friends; but as the school rules will be very few in number and very simple, it is my wish that none may be sent contrary to their own inclination, nor any one who would not be likely to be good examples to the other scholars, and treat them with kindness and affection.

The price for board and tuition will be two hundred Dollars per annum, one quarter always to be paid in advance—no restrictions respecting the kind of clothing are intended, nor respecting the frequency of the changes that parents may require; the washing will be charged at the ordinary price per dozen—children may be admitted for one quarter only, and such as are entered for a longer period, may nevertheless be removed at the expiration of any quarter.—The communication with Philadelphia will be frequent and easy by stage, and a house of entertainment kept by the farmer for the accommodation of persons having business at the school.

Reading, Writing, Arithmetic, English Grammar, Geography and the use of Maps and globes, will be taught, together with such other branches as the progress of the children and experience may render expedient. The school to open the first of the 5th month next. For further information apply to Edward Stabler, Alexandria, or to Bath House.

THE subscriber respectfully informs the public, that his Bath House is now and will remain in complete operation until the 15th inst. at which time should a sufficient number of subscribers be obtained, it will be continued during the season, otherwise he will be under the necessity of closing it on that day. The experience of former years, he trusts, will be a satisfactory apology for so doing, as without sufficient patronage to meet the expenses thereof, he cannot continue the bath house without incurring certain loss.

Gentlemen disposed to encourage the establishment, will please to leave their names at his bar.

June 2 T. SHIELDS.

Absconded,

ON the night of the 16th inst. my negro man JOHN, or JOHN ALLEN, (as he calls himself)—he is well known, having lived with me for several years, and has travelled a good deal with me. He is a very plausible fellow, about 30 years of age, slender made, and about 5 feet 5 inches high, rather of a yellow complexion, but the complete negro mouth and nose—has a small scar on one of his cheeks—has lately had a sore on his right leg, directly on the shin bone, which leg has the appearance of being much scored at a former period by disease or the small pox. His hat was made and stamped by Rogers of Baltimore.—A reward of 10 dollars will be given if taken in the town or county of Alexandria, 20 if in the county of Washington or Fairfax, 50 if in Baltimore or state of Maryland, and 100 if in Philadelphia or the state of Pennsylvania, and in like proportion if at any other places, with all reasonable charges for bringing him here and securing him in jail.

May 18 JAMES SANDERSON.

James Kennedy & Son,

RESPECTFULLY inform the public that they have just received from LEE'S MEDICINE STORE, No. 46, Maiden lane, New-York, a fresh supply of the following valuable MEDICINES:

Hamilton's Worm-destroying Lozenges,

Which have within sixteen years past cured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from WORMS, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It [illegible] nothing but what is perfectly innocent & is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body; but will without pain or griping cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.

Worms which infest the human body are chiefly of four kinds viz.—The Teres or large round worm; the Ascarides or small maw-worm; the Cucurbitine or short flat white worm; and lastly, the Tænia or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food and sometimes voracious; purging with slimy and fœtid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; pains in the head and thighs and lowness of spirits; slow fever with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent "the vomiting and purging of children"—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number when in an advanced steze of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

The Restorative Powder for the Teeth and Gums.

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended

HAHN's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficatious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Hamilton's Elixir,

A sovereign remedy for colds, obstinate coughs, asthmas, sore throats, catarrhs, and approaching consumptions.—To parents who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative,

Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of

Nervous Disorders	Violent cramps in the stomach and back
Consumptions	Indigestion
Lowness of spirits	Melancholy
Loss of appetite	Gout in the stomach
Impurity of b'ood	Pains in the limbs
Hysteric'l affection	Relaxations, etc.
Inward weaknesses and debility

Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard.

A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic rheumatism, gout, rheumatic gout, palsy, lumbago, numbness, white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain in the face and neck, etc. etc.

Lee's Ointment for the Itch.

Warranted an infallible remedy at one application, may be used with perfect safety by pregnant women, or on infants a week old, not containing a particle of mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever, and not accompanied with that tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

Hahn's true & genuine German Corn Plaister.

An infallible remedy for corns, speedily removing them root and branch, without giving any pain.

The Genuine Persian Lotion,

So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellent minerals, the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflamatory redness, scurfs, tetters, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.

Hahn's genuine Eye Water,

A sovereign remedy for all diseases of the eyes, whether the effect of natural weakness or of accident.

Tooth Ache Drops.

The only remedy yet discovered which gives immediate and lasting relief in the most severe instances.

Lee's Infallible Ague and Fever Drops

For the cure of agues, remittent and intermittent fevers.
